July 2024

Editorial

I am very pleased to share with you the E-newsletter of the month of July. Organic farming has been beneficial in keeping our environment and communities healthy. Organic farming targets all the different aspects of sustainable living. Realizing the importance of the same, most important of the events was the promotion of our WE-LivE project, empowering women and nurturing young talent. FCDP-TMS has been actively engaging in various programs aimed at promoting organic farming practices. The significant events of the month were the WE-LivE project initiatives, women empowerment programs, and competitions for young talent. These events showcase the social commitment of FCDP family towards the integral growth of youth, children, and fisherfolk in our region. I am grateful to the entire board and staff, our benefactors and well-wishers. who are constantly supporting and encouraging us in all our efforts.
